LeasePilot software corrects the roadblocks and inefficiencies in commercial lease drafting and revision. Our lease drafting software speeds time to close, so property owners can start collecting rent sooner than before.

Quick first drafts. Painless revision management.

Use LeasePilot to generate a first-draft lease in fewer than 15 minutes. Use it to manage revisions as well. Our smart text editing interface makes it easy to manage and share changes directly from within the software.

Focus your team on what they do best.

LeasePilot software is easy to use, for lawyers and non-lawyers alike. Empower administrative staff to generate drafts and implement revisions. Free up your legal resources to concentrate on tasks only lawyers can do. Leasing gets faster when you don't have to rely on busy attorneys to complete administrative tasks.

A higher quality physical lease in the end.

When you use LeasePilot, you'll end up with a much stronger lease document than before. LeasePilot works using your existing forms, language, and formatting standards. As you make changes, intelligence in the software updates your lease in every spot that needs to change. This helps keep your lease error-free. Your completed lease can be exported as an xml file, a Word document, or a pdf.

Better data, better leasing.

LeasePilot is all about data, in ways that aren't immediately apparent when you use it. Using our software feels like working with a document. In actuality, you're working directly with the underlying data. This helps the software predict issues likely to arise during the drafting and revision process. It also helps keep your lease consistent and error-free. Our all-data approach also provides access to better leasing management data than you've had before.

Getting started is easy.

LeasePilot was created for property owners in the retail, office, and industrial sectors of CRE. Our team of legal and technical professionals will convert your forms and language library, provide complete training, and get you up and running quickly.
